VITORIA-GASTEIZ
A natural destination for savouring Basque wine and fine food and age-old history

From your hotel’s windows you will be able to enjoy the green and natural setting of Vitoria-Gasteiz, a city with an outstanding combination of nature and man and fine food. The 1, 2 or 3 days you spend here will enable you to comfortably spend your time on a cultural and leisure trip.

Turn around, you’ll never fail to be surprised: the 80 km of bicycle routes and 70 km of pedestrian paths that you can explore on the city façades, the 30,000 murals that support equality, celebrating a variety of backgrounds, winks to local history... Art and science come to life in this city.

There are no two days alike in Vitoria-Gasteiz, so you choose your pace and place in the different parts of the city at your own pace. There’s no hurry: enjoy yourself!

These are our suggestions to help you choose places and plans in the city and its public transport will allow you to move comfortably around.

If you’re going to visit two of the most picturesque squares of the city, the Plaza de la Virgen Blanca and the Plaza Nueva, we suggest you that you make this visit early in the morning to avoid the crowds.

The Medieval Quarter is one of the oldest areas of the city. It’s a labyrinth of narrow streets where you can find the Plaza de la Virgen Blanca, by Olaguíbel, the architect, it’s also the location of the Plaza Nueva and the San Prudencio Basilica. If you still have time, the nearby forest is also a natural destination for walking with public transport. As a first stop, we suggest the Fine Arts and Armoury). Continuing along the Avenida de San Prudencio: three kilometres among century-old trees, you can see the Prado Park and, in Armentia, the San Prudencio Basilica...

Vitoria-Gasteiz is surprising in many ways. It is one of the European cities with the largest proportion of green spaces to walk, run or cycle around. In addition to being the European Green Capital 2012, it has been awarded the status of a certified Sustainable Tourism Destination (STDT) and the Global Green City 2012, owing to its participation in one of the most environmentally-conceived cities at an international level, Gasteiz On Retailers Association.

Its historical heritage: Vitoria-Gasteiz is a city that has been able to keep its medieval layout intact and contains parts that take visitors back to bygone eras. This is the case of the Plaza de España, declared Monumental Complex in 1997, or the Old Cathedral (13th century) and the Medieval Ermita de San Antón, among others. It also contains parts that take visitors back to bygone eras, such as Villa Suso, Montehermoso and Escoriaza. In the last few decades, they have been recovered, and the best products and the best atmosphere in restaurants and pintxo bars, with an extensive selection of the most innovative creations of Basque cuisine, are the result of the city's tradition of confectionery.

There is a large offering of routes and guided tours that show you the city from all perspectives. From the touristic budget Medieval Quarter to the big picture view of the city and its surroundings, the Green Capital of Europe offers you the chance to see the Añana Salt Valley, with more than 6,500 years of history, which still produce beautiful landscape of the Añana Salt Plains, used by the most prestigious chefs. In the Alava Plains, you can find the nature offers you the chance to see the Añana Salt Valley, with more than 6,500 years of history, which still produce beautiful landscape of the Añana Salt Plains, used by the most prestigious chefs. In the Alava Plains, you can find the nature.

The Apurimac (13th century) is a bridge that is unique in its genre. It has a wooden arch with a heavy granite base, and its slender, graceful arches are the result of the city's tradition of confectionery. In the 13th century, the Apurimac was the result of a hydraulic project, and its importance is reflected in the rich variety of its architecture, both Gothic and Romanesque. It is an example of the medieval 'Almond' and the neoclassical 'Fesantes' bridge the difference in height between the Plaza de España and the Plaza de la Constitución. The Old Cathedral (13th century) and the Medieval Ermita de San Antón, among others.
